Chicago Kent College of Law

HISTORICAL

The Chicago College of Law was established in 1886, and was the Law Department of Lake Forest University from 1889 to 1903, when the University was reorganized as a college and the professional schools became independent. Kent College of Law was incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois in 1892. In 1900 the two colleges were consolidated and have since been known as the Chicago-Kent College of Law.

The Chicago College of Law was the first evening law school to be established in the United States, and immediately attained great success, due largely to the devoted labor and self-sacrifice of its first dean, Hon. Joseph M. Bailey, chief justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Illinois. Upon his death in 1896, Hon. Thomas A. Moran, presiding justice of the Appellate Court of the First District of Illinois, recognized as one of the foremost lawyers of the state, became dean of the college. After his death in 1904 he was succeeded as dean by the Hon. Edmund W. Burke, former justice of the branch Appellate Court of the First District of Illinois, whose able administration continued until his death, September 7, 1918. At that time Webster H. Burke, formerly assistant dean, became acting dean and in 1920 dean of the college.

LOCATION

The college library and lecture rooms are located in the Lake View building, 116 South Michigan avenue, one of the most modern fireproof buildings in the city, and are easy of access from all parts of the city and suburbs.

The college quarters were especially planned and constructed to meet the requirements of the school. They contain lecture halls, a well-appointed library, reading room for students' use, with a commodious book stack room adjoining and general and private offices of the administrative officers.

ADVANTAGES

Situated in the very center of the great business district of Chicago, the school affords its students opportunities for an acquaintance with the management of large business interests which will be of incalculable benefit to them in after years in controversies respecting the rights and obligations of owners of such interests.

The advantages of pursuing a Course of Law Studies in a great commercial metropolis like Chicago are well worthy of consideration. There are almost constantly in session in Chicago, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, the United States District Court, a Court of Admiralty, three branches of the Illinois Appellate Court, twenty Judges sitting in law or chancery in the Cook County Circuit Court, eighteen Judges sitting in law or chancery in the Cook County Superior Court, six Judges sitting in the Criminal Court, two Judges sitting in the Cook County Court, a Probate Court, a Juvenile Court, and thirty-two Municipal Court Judges, so it can readily be seen that a great variety of questions, calling for the application of almost every possible phase of legal principles, are constantly arising and being litigated in courts of Chicago, thus affording law students exceptional and desirable opportunities for hearing legal proceedings in all their forms in actual progress. The sessions of the school are held at such hours that an opportunity is afforded the students of combining the work at the school with that of the office, and the school is thereby enabled to obtain the services of eminent judges and practicing lawyers who are also trained and experienced teachers. It is believed that the long experience of these men upon the bench and at the bar in the practical application of the principles of law enables them to impart instruction of much greater value to students than would be possible from a merely theoretical standpoint.

The school is in the immediate vicinity of the courts and in the midst of the law offices, and the students are encouraged and assisted as far as practicable in obtaining employment in suitable offices. The bar of Chicago numbers more than five thousand lawyers (more than half of these who have graduated from any law school in this state being alumni of the Chicago Kent College of Law), and students who so desire can find employment as clerks or opportunities to enter offices as students with the free use of good working libraries. ON ACCOUNT OF THE PRACTICAL NATURE OF THE INSTRUCTION AT THIS SCHOOL, ITS STUDENTS ARE IN DEMAND AS CLERKS IN LAW OFFICES; IN FACT, THE SECRETARY CAN PLACE STUDENTS WHO ARE COMPETENT IN GOOD POSITIONS IN THE BEST OFFICES IN THE CITY.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ADMISSION

Applicants for a degree must furnish satisfactory proof that they have had the equivalent of a High School education or must be prepared to pass an examination upon the branches of learning usually taught in such schools in the State of Illinois. In special instances, other applicants, not candidates for a degree, are admitted as special students on furnishing satisfactory proof of sufficient education to enable them successfully to pursue legal studies.

Students from other law schools in good standing may be admitted to advanced standing, provided they are otherwise qualified, upon production of a satisfactory certificate showing the period of their attendance at such schools, and their proficiency in studies there pursued.

The Rules of the Supreme Court and the State Board of Law Examiners governing admission to the bar in the State of Illinois and the preliminary education requirements are given in the Appendix.

MODE OF INSTRUCTION

The chief aim of this school is to teach legal principles and to prepare for the actual practice of law. The high standard required by the present Board of Law Examiners affords a most rigorous test of the acquirements of the student presenting himself for examination.

The course of study conforms to the requirements of the Supreme Court and the Board of Examiners. It is intended not only to fit men for the bar examination, but more especially for practice at the bar, undertaking to be as thoroughly practical as possible, consistent with such a theoretical knowledge of the law as is desirable and necessary for every lawyer. That it has been reasonably successful in both respects is indicated by the high degree of success which has come to its graduates. The percentage of failures among graduates of this school in the bar examination has been very low.

The members of the faculty of this school are all regularly and actively engaged, either upon the bench or at the bar, in the practical administration of the law, and although special attention is given to Illinois practice, the course is designed to be sufficiently broad and thorough to prepare students for practice in any State of the Union. The course is based upon the theory that there is no one "best method" of instruction in law, and, therefore, aims to combine the advantages of all approved systems and methods. It includes textbook work, lectures, study of leading and illustrative cases, exercises in drafting contracts, pleadings and other legal documents, the preparation of briefs and the conduct of causes in the practice courts.

The students are required carefully to read and study the textbooks and leading cases included in the course, and thorough examinations, both oral and written, are given upon lessons previously assigned, coupled with such exposition and illustration of the various topics thus presented for consideration as at the time may seem necessary to their being properly and adequately understood.

Lectures are given upon some parts of all leading subjects and upon special subjects. Students are expected personally to take notes of all lectures, and, whenever so required, to prepare an analytical synopsis.

Exercises are given in the preparation of pleadings and in the discussion by the students, under the superintendence of the faculty, of matters of pleading and practice, and other questions of law arising upon cases specially assigned, with the view of illustrating the rules of law by applying them to the various forms of judicial proceedings. To this is added a Practice Court, presided over by one of the instructors as judge. The students are expected to prepare pleadings and briefs, and make all oral arguments upon the statements of facts submitted to them beforehand. The instruction, therefore, includes a course covering the general principles of jurisprudence, together with the exemplification of the practice, pleadings and proceedings in the various form of actions at law and suits in equity, both in courts of original and appellate jurisdiction.

state Commerce, Roman Civil Law, History of Jurisprudence, Admiralty, Jurisdiction of Parties, Federal Taxation, Torrens Law, Municipal Bonds and Special Assessments, Preparation and Trial of a Case, Taxation, Industrial Board Practice, Criminal Trials.

The Faculty reserves the right to modify the foregoing Course of Study as they may deem most advantageous for the students. It is, therefore, advisable that before purchasing text-books students should consult with the members of the Faculty.

ABSTRACT EXAMINATION AND CONVEYANCING

Abstracts embodying difficult questions which arise for solution in the examination of abstracts of title of real estate have been prepared by the instructors in this branch of the law. Under the direction of the instructor each student is required to trace, in one of these abstracts, the history of a title from the government of the United States and to study and note the validity and invalidity of the title as affected by the acts of parties or by the operation of law. These abstracts have been so prepared as to raise all questions with which an attorney ordinarily meets in examining the most involved titles to real estate. After completing courses in real estate and probate law this course will give an opportunity to make practical application of many principles of real estate and probate law.

COURSES IN PROCEDURE AND PRACTICE

Experience has shown that the student who confines his attention solely to the study of the law as a science is not fitted for practice until he has acquired a certain amount of actual experience in a law office. This defect in existing methods of legal education is remedied in the course of instruction herewith presented, in which theory and practice are combined in such relations as to impart to students the benefits of both methods. In order to insure a practical acquaintance with the ordinary work of a law office a course in Procedure and a Practice Court form leading features of the course of instruction and each student is required to pursue a systematic course of instruction in the preparation of all such legal papers and suits as are likely to occupy the attention of the practitioner. In other words, students are taught law by practicing it.

Each student is required to study the topics assigned from the books used by practitioners, to draw all the papers required, to prepare the evidence and pleadings and study the practice relating thereto, and during the week of the exercises, to file all the papers required. The facts of each case are announced one week in advance of the exercise thereon.

The course covers in a thorough manner the following subjects. Methods of instituting action in courts of record, process, affidavits, etc.; bail in civil actions; motions; judgment notes, cognovits, practice and pleading in the action of assumpsit; practice and pleading in the actions of account and covenant; practice and pleading in the actions of debt; practice and pleading in the actions of detinue and trover; practice and pleading in the action of trespass; practice and pleading in the action of case; practice and pleading in the action of replevin; practice and pleading in the action of ejectment; defenses and actions; instructions to jury; motions for a new trial; bills of exceptions; attachment and garnishment; mechanic's lien, foreclosure of mortgages; creditors' bills; mandamus; prohibition; certiorari scire facias; special statutory proceedings; preparation for trial (lecture); preparation of legal briefs; Law Books and Law Libraries (lecture).

Other heads of practice not included in the above scheme, such as the organization and conduct of corporations, general and limited partnership, etc., are treated in the subjects to which they respectively relate.

The course in Procedure and the work in the Practice Court familiarize the student with all the proceedings in a suit from the time the client states the facts of the case to his attorney until it is decided by the court of last resort.

SESSIONS AND ATTENDANCE

The sessions are held in the evening, beginning at half-past six o'clock with a required course of ten to twelve and one-half hours each week.

Every student is required regularly and punctually to attend all lectures, recitations and exercises of his class and to remain throughout the session, and to make thorough preparation for the class work. Students who absent themselves from classroom work in any subject without good and sufficient reason and the consent of the Faculty, will not be entitled to take the final examination in such subjects, and will be deemed conditioned therein.

EXAMINATIONS

Examinations will be held at the conclusion of each subject and at such other times as in the discretion of the Faculty may seem best.

POST-GRADUATE COURSE, 1922-23

At least one year must be spent in graduate study before the granting of the Master's degree. Certain special courses are given which it is expected all candidates for this degree will take; also a given amount of work in the undergraduate courses may be elected with the consent of the Faculty. The preparation of briefs and theses is a requirement of the work. For further information concerning the Graduate course leading to the degree of Master of Laws, address the secretary of the Faculty.

COURSE IN FORENSIC ORATORY

Special classes are also conducted in Forensic oratory and public speaking during the school year under the auspices of the college, competent instruction being provided. Students are especially recommended to take this course for such time as their individual needs may require before completing the regular courses in the college. Regular students may elect to take this work in the first year for two hours and a half each week without extra charge.

SPECIAL COURSES IN BUSINESS LAW

A special course in business law is offered for the benefit of students who are unable or do not desire to take the entire course, but who wish to learn something of the principles applying most frequently to business transactions. For further information about this course address the secretary of the Faculty.

LIBRARY

The College has its own library of over five thousand books, including the Illinois and Appellate Reports, the Lawyers' Reports Annotated, American Decisions, American Reports, American State Reports, the American and English Encyclopedia of Law, the Encyclopedia of Practice and Pleadings, the Encyclopedia of Forms, "Cyc.", Ruling Case Law, over 1,000 volumes of English Reports, standard text-books, the National Reporter System, which contains the current American decisions, the leading current periodicals, and many others.

The students also have the benefit, without charge, of the Law Institute, Public Library of Chicago, and the Newberry Library, and various other law libraries.

DEGREES

Upon candidates who complete the three years' course in a manner satisfactory to the Faculty, the authorities of this institution will confer the degree of Bachelor of Laws in course.

The course of instruction leading to the degree of Master of Laws covers a minimum period of one year. Candidates for this degree must have completed a three years' course in this or some other college maintaining an equivalent curriculum before entering the graduate department.

PRIZES

Thomas A. Moran Prizes—In memory of the late Hon. Thomas A. Moran, for many years dean of the college, his son, Thomas A. Moran, until his death in 1922, offered a prize of three hundred dollars, one hundred of which was presented to the member of each class who, during the school year, ranked highest in both proficiency and attendance. These prizes are now paid from and the amount thereof fixed by the income realized from a fund contributed by former members of Judge Moran's classes, held by the trustees of the college and known as the Moran Memorial Fund.

Edmund W. Burke Prize—In memory of the late Hon. Edmund W. Burke, dean of the college from 1904 to the time of his death in the year 1918, his widow, Myra W. Burke, and sons, Webster H. Burke and Ralph H. Burke, have donated to the college a fund to be held by the trustees of the college, the income arising therefrom to be used perpetually in providing such prizes as said trustees may deem suitable for students of the college who excel in oratory or debating.

The college offers a scholarship for the ensuing college year to the extent of seventy-five dollars to the member of the freshman class, who, during the freshman year, attains a proficiency in his studies which ranks him second highest in his class.

The college offers a scholarship for the ensuing college year to the extent of seventy-five dollars to the member of the junior class who, during the junior year, attains a proficiency in his studies which ranks him second highest in his class.

The college offers a graduate scholarship to the member of the senior class who, during the senior year, attains a proficiency which ranks him second highest in his class.

Messrs. Callaghan & Co., law-book sellers of Chicago, offer a prize of a set of Andrew's American Law, two volumes, to the member of the senior class who, during the senior year, prepares the best legal brief on any subject accepted by the Faculty.

Messrs. T. H. Flood & Co., law-book sellers of Chicago, offer a prize of $50.00 in law books for the best thesis prepared by any member of the third year class on some legal question to be accepted by the Faculty.

(Each member of the third year class is required to compete for at least one of the last two prizes. No one, however, is allowed to compete for more than one.)

TUITION

A matriculation fee of $5.00 is charged all students at the time of entering the school. This fee is paid but once during the course.

The charge of tuition is $120.00 per year, payable in three installments of $40.00 each. If paid on or before the tenth day of each term a discount of $5.00 will be allowed.

A rebate of $20.00 is allowed to those who pay the entire tuition in advance on or before October 2.

A graduation fee of $15.00 will be charged.

A special rate of tuition, which may be had upon application to the treasurer, is charged students who take work covering not to exceed nine weeks of one term only.

No tuition fees will be refunded on account of inability to attend, but if an entire term is lost, students having paid tuition may attend without charge at a subsequent term.

An incidental fee of $1.50 is added to the regular tuition for the third-year, covering cost of preparation of printed abstract furnished.

The cost of living is lower in Chicago than in any other large city in the United States. Board may be obtained at very reasonable rates in private homes or in boarding houses, and students from a distance will be assisted by the secretary in securing suitable accommodations.

CLASS DEBATES

Each class has a debating society which meets weekly to discuss live questions of the day. Students are thus given an opportunity to practice public speaking and cultivate the art of thinking while on their feet in heated argument.

ATHLETICS

Football and basketball teams are organized each year. All students who desire to take an active part in college athletics will assemble in the freshman rooms on the opening night, in September.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

There are in Chicago and vicinity more than twenty-seven hundred graduates of Chicago Kent College of Law and the colleges which merged into it. An annual reunion of classes and Alumni banquet are held, at which some of the best known and most talented public men of the country are invited to speak. On these occasions each class is seated by itself and old-time acquaintances are renewed. Class spirit runs high and much enthusiasm is displayed among the classes in trying to bring out great numbers. The undergraduate classes are always invited to these reunions and are represented on the different committees.

ADMISSION TO THE BAR

Admission to the bar of the State of Illinois is governed by the rules of the Supreme Court of the State and by rules and regulations adopted by the State Board of Law Examiners appointed by said Court.

The present rule of the Supreme Court, as revised to date, is as follows:

Rule 39. Board of Examiners, Appointment of. There shall be appointed by this court a State Board of Law Examiners, to consist of five members of the bar of at least five years' standing—one from each Appellate Court district and one from the state at large—to hold, regulate, supervise and control examinations for admission to the bar, and to examine and report upon applications for admission, based upon admission to the bar in another state or foreign country. Every application to this court for admission to the bar shall be made in term time, by motion in open court, based upon a report of said board of law examiners. Each examiner shall act as a member of such board for a term of three years, except under the first appointment which shall be for a term of one year for one, two years for two, and three years for the remaining two of said examiners, and until the appointment of their successors.

Examinations, How Conducted and Where. Examinations shall be conducted by written or printed interrogatories, in whole or in part, and be as nearly as possible uniform throughout the state; to be held at Chicago on the last Tuesday in February and the first Tuesday next succeeding the fourth day in July, and the first Tuesday in December, and at Springfield the first Tuesday in October in each year.

Such examinations shall be held by the examiners as a body, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum.

Subjects Upon Which Examination is Based. Each applicant examined must sustain a satisfactory examination upon the law of real and personal property, personal rights, torts, contracts, evidence, common law and equity pleading, partnership, bailments, negotiable instruments, principal and agent, principal and surety, domestic relations, wills, corporations, equity jurisprudence, conflict of laws, criminal law, and upon the principles of the constitutions of the state and of the United States and legal ethics.

The board shall certify to this court every person who shall pass a satisfactory examination, provided such person shall have in other respects complied with the rules regulating the licensing of attorneys.

Re-Examination of Rejected Applicants. If an applicant, on examination, should be rejected, he shall not again be admitted to an examination until at least one examination has intervened after such rejection, and shall file with the board proof that he has studied law during the intervening time subsequent to the prior examination.

Fees to be Paid by Applicants. Each applicant for admission to the bar, whether upon examination or admission in another State or foreign country, shall pay to said board, in advance, a fee of ten dollars.<sup>1</sup>

Preliminary Education. Requirements for Examination. Proof of Study. How Made. Every applicant, except one who applies for admission by virtue of a license issued to him in another state or foreign country, shall present to the Board of Law Examiners satisfactory proof that he has had a preliminary general education<sup>2</sup> acquired prior to beginning the study of law, sufficient to qualify him therefor. Such proof shall consist of a diploma showing the completion of a four-year course in a High School in this State whose graduates are admitted on such diploma to the freshman class of any university or college of good standing in this state, or a certificate of the Registrar of the University of Illinois or other college or university where the requirements for admission are equal to those required by the University of Illinois, that the applicant is entitled to enter the University of Illinois or such other college or university;<sup>3</sup> Provided, however, that this rule shall not apply to applicants who, in good faith before October 25, 1917, have begun the study of law and have complied with the rule of this court as to such preliminary educational requirements then in force. Such applicant must further show that he has within six years next prior to applying for examination, pursued for the period of three years, during at least thirty-six weeks in each year, a course of law studies covering the subjects above enumerated (naming the law books studied) and that such law studies have been pursued in an established law school, considered by the board to be in good standing,<sup>4</sup> or under the personal tuition of one or more licensed lawyers, and that the applicant, if studying under such tuition, has submitted to regular and satisfactory examinations by such lawyer or lawyers during said period upon each subject, not less than once each week during at least thirty-six weeks in each year. Such proof shall consist of the affidavit<sup>5</sup> of the applicant and the certificate of the secretary or one of the professors of the law school showing personal attendance at such law school, or the affidavit or affidavits of the lawyer or lawyers under whose tuition such studies have been pursued, or if, in consequence of the death or absence of such lawyer or lawyers, his or their affidavit cannot be procured, its place may be supplied by the affidavit<sup>6</sup> of any creditable witness having knowledge of the facts. The course of study may be made up by attendance upon a law school for a portion of the time and under the direction and supervision of one or more lawyers for the remainder of the time.<sup>7</sup> Persons who in good faith have before July 1, 1913, begun, but not yet completed, the study of law in compliance with former rules of this court concerning admission to the bar, shall be permitted to complete their requirements for examination or admission under the rules existing prior to the adoption of the present amendments, provided that such requirements are completed within six years from the time when they were begun, and that the periodical examination of students under the tuition of licensed lawyers shall, after July 1, 1913, be had and proved in accordance with the requirements of this rule.

Attorneys from Other States, How Admitted. An applicant for admission to the bar, upon a license or other voucher, showing his admission as an attorney at law in another State or foreign country, must present to the board proof that he has been admitted to practice in the highest court of law in the other State or in the foreign country, a certificate executed by the proper authorities that he has been duly admitted to practice in such State or country, and that he has actually remained in said State and country and practiced in said State and country and practiced in said court as an attorney for at least five years,<sup>8</sup> a certificate from a judge of said court that he has been duly admitted to practice and has actually continuously practiced as an attorney, for a period of at least five years after his admission, specifying the name of the place or places in which he has so practiced, and that he has a good character as such attorney. Such certificate must be certified by the clerk of the court of which the judge is a member and also prove that he is a citizen of the United States and an actual resident of the State of Illinois at the time of making the application, giving the place of his residence by street and number, if such there be, and the length of time he has been such a resident. He shall also submit the affidavits of two persons who are residents of the Appellate Court district in which he resides, one of whom must be an attorney, that he is of such character and general fitness as justify his admission to practice, and the affidavits must set forth in detail the facts upon which the affiant's knowledge of the applicant is based.

Proof of Moral Character, How Made. The applicant must file with the secretary of the board the papers required for his admission, as heretofore specified, and must appear in person before the Committee on Character and Fitness, hereinafter mentioned for the Appellate Court district in which he resides. Such applicant shall be admitted, subject to the provisions of this rule, upon such license or voucher, without examination by the board if it appears to the court by a certificate of said board that in the state or country in which the license was issued, the requirements for admission to the bar are equal to those required in this state.<sup>9</sup> The board shall certify to this court persons entitled to admission by virtue of such admission to the bar in such other State or foreign country, subject, however, to the provisions hereafter set forth.

Within ten days after the first day of the June Term of this court in each year, this court will appoint a Committee on Character and Fitness in each of the Appellate Court districts of the state, consisting of not less than three Attorneys at law, together with the member or members of the Board of Law Examiners residing in the respective districts, to which shall be referred all applications for admission to practice as attorney and counsellor at law, the members of such committee to continue in office until their successors are appointed. To the respective committees shall be referred all applications for admission to practice. The committee shall require the attendance before it, or a member thereof, of each applicant, with the affidavits of at least two practicing attorneys acquainted with such applicant residing in the Appellate Court district in which the applicant resides, that he is of such character and general fitness as justifies his admission to practice, and the affidavits must set forth in detail the facts upon which the affiant's knowledge of the applicant is based. It shall be the duty of the committee to examine each applicant, and the committee must be satisfied from such examination and other evidence that the applicant shall produce that the applicant has such qualifications as to character and general fitness as in the opinion of the committee justify his admission to practice, and no person shall be admitted to practice except upon the production of a certificate from the committee to that effect unless the court otherwise orders.

No applicant shall be entitled to receive such a certificate who is not able to speak and write the English language intelligently, nor until he has filed with the board of law examiners a certificate of his good moral character from a court of record of the county of his residence and affirmatively established to the satisfaction of the committee that he has possession of such character as qualifies him for admission to the bar and qualifies him to perform the duties of an attorney and counsellor at law.

Each applicant whose name shall be certified by the State Board of Law Examiners, either upon passing the examination or because of the provisions hereinbefore set forth touching the admission of attorneys who have been admitted to practice in another State or in a foreign country, shall answer the following questions and verify his answers thereto:

1. Give your full name, age, residence and birthplace. If born in a foreign country, at what age did you come to the United States? If naturalized, state when and where.
2. State the names, residence and occupations of your parents.
3. What schools other than college or law school have you attended, and between what dates?
4. Did you attend college? If so, state what colleges and when, specifying dates. What degrees, if any, have you received?
5. Did you attend a law school? If so, state what school and when, specifying dates. What degrees in law, if any, have you received?
6. Have you been employed in, or studied law in a law office? If so, give a full list of such offices and state the period, specifying dates of your employment or study in each.
7. Have you ever applied for admission to practice as an attorney or counsellor in any court of any other State or country? If so, specify when and where; whether you were admitted to the bar, and if so, how long and where you practiced?
8. Have you ever applied for admission to the bar of the State of Illinois? If so, where, when and with what result?
9. Have you ever been engaged in any occupation, business or profession other than the law? If so, when and where? State fully the names and addresses of your employers, the positions you have occupied, and the period of such employment, specifying dates. Are such employers willing to appear before the committee or make a statement to it in your behalf?
10. Have you ever been a party or otherwise involved in any legal proceedings? If so, state facts fully.
11. Give the names and addresses of the persons to whom you refer as to your character and state how long you have known each.

RULES OF THE ILLINOIS STATE BOARD OF LAW EXAMINERS

Rule 1. Application, How Made. Each application for admission to examination must be made on the forms prescribed by the Board of Examiners and filed with the Secretary of the Board at least three weeks before the stated meeting of the Board at which the applicant desires to be examined, and must be accompanied by all the proofs required by the rules of the Supreme Court and of this Board, on the forms prescribed by the Board, wherever applicable. Such proofs must show affirmatively and specifically that the applicant has complied with all the conditions prescribed by said rules. The fee of ten dollars must be paid at that time.

Rule II. Preliminary General Education. Each applicant for admission to examination shall present to the secretary of the board with his application satisfactory proof that, prior to beginning the study of law he had a preliminary general education sufficient to qualify him for such study.

Proof, How Made. The proof required by this rule may be made by one or more of the following methods:

1. The diploma of any university or college in good standing, as determined by a list of such universities or colleges furnished from time to time by the Registrar of the University of Illinois.

2. A diploma showing that the applicant has completed a four year course of study in a High School in this State, whose graduates are admitted on such diploma to the freshman class of any university or college of good standing in this State. Colleges and universities in this State will be deemed to be of good standing whose requirements for admission are equal to those of the University of Illinois as shown by a list of such colleges and universities furnished from time to time by the Registrar of the University of Illinois.

3. A certificate of the Registrar of the University of Illinois, or other university or college, whose requirements for admission are equal to those of the University of Illinois, as determined by the list of such universities and colleges furnished from time to time by the Registrar of the University of Illinois, that the applicant is entitled to enter the freshman class of the University of Illinois, or such other college or university.

Exception to Rule. This rule shall not apply to applicants, who, in good faith, before October 25, 1917, have commenced the study of law and have complied with the rules then in force as to preliminary educational requirements.

Rule III. In grading examination papers, the Board will take into consideration the spelling, grammar, punctuation, neatness and accuracy of expression, displayed by the applicant in writing his answers, but will, of course, consider mainly the legal requirements of the applicant as disclosed by his answers.

Rule IV. Application for Admission on Foreign License. What Proof Necessary. Every applicant for admission to the bar of this State, by virtue of admission in another State or foreign country, must present with his application either—

1. A copy of the rules relating to admission to the bar of the court by which he was admitted, in force at the time of his admission, from which it will appear that in the state or country in which he was admitted the requirements for admission to the bar were then equal to those now prescribed in this State, which copy must be properly certified under the seal of the court as a full and correct copy of the rules in force at the date of such admission; or

2. The certificate or certificates of one or more judges of a court or courts of record in the State in which he was admitted, showing affirmatively and specifically that the applicant has been engaged in active practice for a period of five years in said court or courts under the license granted him by the.....Court in said State, and the time or times when he was so engaged. The signature of each judge so certifying must be certified to by the Clerk of the court under the seal of the court.

If, in consequence of the death of any judge or judges, or of other good reason, to be proved to the Board of Examiners, such certificate cannot be procured, its place may be supplied by the certificate of the clerk of the court in which the applicant practiced, under the seal of the court, if such clerk has personal knowledge of the facts, and so certifies; or by the affidavits of two or more reputable lawyers, having such personal knowledge, and setting forth the facts specifically as to when and where and in what courts and for what period of time the applicant so practiced, and their means of information; and the officer before whom such affidavits are taken must certify that the affiants are reputable lawyers, in good standing at the bar.

Rule V. Affidavits. All affidavits required by Rule 39 of the Supreme Court, or by these rules, must be made before an officer authorized to administer oaths and having an official seal, and attested by his signature and official position must be properly certified to by the proper officer having such seal.

Rule VI. Law Schools, When Considered in Good Standing. An established law school to be considered in good standing, must faithfully teach the several branches of law specified in Rule 39 of the Supreme Court, and must require recitations averaging ten hours or more each week.

Rule VII. Applicants for admission to the bar, either on examination or foreign license, shall be given until the second session of the board following their application, to submit to an examination, or complete proofs for certificate, or to show cause why further time should be granted, and failing in this, the name of the applicant shall be stricken from the docket and shall not be re-docketed except upon the filing of a new application and the payment of the fee
